Eakins' proposal

Business bill gets second reading

John Eakins, Member of Provincial Parliament for Victoria-Haliburton, told the Ontario Legislature that small business has been neglected by governments in this country, and its importance diminished by comparison with large corporations.

Mr. Eakins was speaking before a private members bill on small business that he was introducing was voted on in the house. The bill received two readings and was sent to committee for further study and changes.

He said, "We in the Liberal Party are committed to the support of the independent entrepreneur and the free enterprise system, which is an integral and important part of Canada's democratic tradition. In the past, free enterprise has helped our country to grow and prosper; it has a vital role to play in the future of our nation, particularly with respect to sustaining and strengthening our economy. The very survival of the free enterprise system depends not only on a viable big business sector, but more importantly on a wide-ranging and flourishing small business community."

Mr. Eakins stated that the great potential of small business has been clearly demonstrated. "It is a flexible, able to adapt quickly to changes in the market, and possesses great capacities for technological and other innovation."

He said that he believes that moves must be made quickly to give increased emphasis and impetus on the small business sector, because it is uniquely adapted to cope with the kind of economic conditions which prevail, because the sagging economy needs assistance from every sector of the business community and because small business can make a very considerable impact on the unemployment situation.

"If we are to have any hope at all of reducing today's tragically high unemployment, of strengthening our economy by meeting the challenges of today's competitive markets, we must drastically readjust our ideas and our priorities," Mr. Eakins said.

He noted that the old concepts of large companies, of increasing concentration, are out-dated.

"Large companies may be efficient, mass-produced items, may be inexpensive - may be. However, big business does not have the flexibility to adapt to today's conditions of slower financial growth. Here in Ontario, we desperately need to ease the pressures on our highly congested urban centres, and to improve the tax base and development of our smaller communities. Small business ventures are ideal for this purpose. Moreover, they can be crucial to reversing present economic trends," Mr. Eakins added.

He said that many of the current economic problems are caused by "an inability to adjust to the new realities," by carrying over into the 70's the practices and ideas of the 60's.

"We simply must conserve our resources, particularly our energy supplies, and increase our efficiency. Inevitably, energy prices - and in fact, energy supplies - are going to have a major impact on the future of this country, domestically and in the international area. Rising costs are making large, highly automated, capital and energy-intensive, centralized enterprises less viable. This country's future economic development, and the standard of living of all Canadians will depend, to a great extent, on our ability to become more self-reliant and conservationist. New technologies, such as solar heat, lend themselves to small operations, and small-scale equipment, with a considerable potential for export to other countries, particularly the developing nations," he said.

Mr. Eakins added, "Bearing in mind the vital impor-

Thursday biggest day in politics

John Eakin's biggest day in politics happened last week with only a couple of hundred witnesses.

On Thursday, a small business bill, proposed by Mr. Eakins, passed two readings in the legislature and has been sent to committee for further study.

Mr. Eakins, in an interview after the daily session of parliament ended, said, "It's an historic occasion, the first time a small business act has come into any jurisdiction!"

He added that it was the biggest moment for the Ontario Liberal Party in many years.

Mr. Eakins said that the day was his biggest in politics a career that has seen him as the mayor of Lindsay and then Member of Provincial Parliament.

He pointed out that it was not only a big day for him as a politician, but also for John Eakins as a small businessman in the province.

Stuart Smith, leader of the Ontario Liberals, told a group of Mr. Eakins relatives, at a dinner party after the daily session in the house ended, that he was very pleased with the bill receiving a second reading.

Mr. Smith agreed with Mr. Eakins that the bill marks an historic occasion for Ontario and Canada.

Mr. Eakins said that a great deal of the credit for the success of the bill had to go out to the Canadian Federation of Independent Businesses for that group's support.

He noted that the bill, at least in principle, received support from all parties, with only one person speaking against the idea of the legislation.

NDP, Conservatives agree with principle of bill

A private members bill concerning small business went through the Ontario Legislature for two readings, better than expected by John Eakins, MPP Victoria-Haliburton.

Mr. Eakins proposed the bill.

Ed Ziemba, New Democratic party member for High Park-Swansea, said that he agrees with the bill in principle but said the preamble did not make sense.

The preamble said the following: "Whereas the essence of Ontario's socio-economic system is embodied in the principles of free enterprise, competition and diversity; and whereas the preservation and expansion of these principles is essential to the basic welfare and security of the people of the Province of Ontario, as well as to the growth of personal initiative; and whereas this Legislature wishes to grant formal recognition to, and give fair and equitable support for that sector of the economy that most effectively preserves and enhances free, competitive enterprise."

Mr. Ziemba said that Canada was not built by free enterprise, but instead by the working men and women.

He said that the bill would help our business in Ontario at the expense of United States firms and branch plants. He noted though that the bill is loosely worded and the preamble should be removed.

Betty Stephenson, Minister of Labor, warned that the bill will increase government size and cost to the taxpayers. She said that the purpose of the bill is good but a better definition of small business is needed.

She explained a number of business oriented programs the government has initiated and pointed out that this bill will be radically altered in committee.

Stuart Smith, leader of the opposition Liberal Party, said that the bill is historic. He admitted that the bill is not perfect but pointed out that it is good legislation.

"At least the bill goes some way in recognizing the contribution that small business makes," he said.

Cars damaged at Haliburton dealers

Haliburton - The Minden detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police is investigating three occurrences involving two automobile dealers in Haliburton Village.

There was a total of $1,135 damage to the Curry Motors car lot on Highland Street when vandals smashed car mirrors, kicked the vehicles and took emblems and gas caps. There was damage to one 1971 model vehicle, one 1972 model vehicle, two 1977 model vehicles and eleven 1978 model vehicles.

The incident took place during the night between

Oct. 21 and 22.

A vehicle at Curry Motors' Body Shop, on Highway 121, had the wheels and tires removed and engine parts taken while parked at the shop between Oct. 1 and Oct. 17.

Total value of the parts taken has been estimated at $285.

Various parts were taken from the engine area of a truck on LaRue Motors' lot during the evening of Oct. 18 to 19. LaRue Motors is located on Highway 121.

The total value of the parts has been estimated at $60.

Star says area has environmental problem

According to a story in Friday's Toronto Star, "The Muskoka and Haliburton resort areas are facing a severe environmental problem caused by acid rain and air pollution."

The story notes that this was released in a study by the Ministry of Environment.

"Lakes and land areas tested for the report include Carnarvon, Eagle Lake, Vankoughnut, Gullfeather, Dorset, Harp Lake, Sibbald, Point Park, Madoc, Silver Lake, Sparrow Lake, Lake St. Peter, Traverse Lake, Mattawa, Powassan, Jamot and Lumsden," it said in the story.

The Star said that the study shows that lakes between Barrie and Sudbury area already suffering and increasing levels of acid in the water is causing some populations of fish to decline. If the problem increases - as expected to - fish in some lakes will be killed off.

"The problem of rising acid levels is caused by rain falling through polluted air which contains high amounts of sulphur dioxide and nitrogen."

"At present the acid rain and pollution problem is believed to pose no health risk to human beings but affects soil, vegetation and water, according to the ministry."

"The environment ministry report, the first such extensive investigation of acid rain in Ontario, pinpoints no specific source for the sulphur dioxide pollution."

"The problem of acid rain is fast becoming one of the most serious environmental problems facing central North America and strains international relations as Canada and the U.S. try to establish who is causing the worst pollution."

"The Star has learned that provincial treasurer Darcy McKeough, environment minister George Kerr and energy minister James Taylor met privately in Ottawa with external affairs minister Don Jamieson last week to discuss the Canadian position on U.S. acid rain," the Star story said.

93 occurrences investigated by OPP

Minden - Members of the Minden detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police investigated 93 general occurrences and four motor vehicle collisions during the week of Oct. 17 to 23.

A two vehicle accident on South Koshlong Lake Road, at 3:30 p.m. Oct. 22, resulted in a total of $1,000 damage.

The Minden detachment of the OPP report that a car driven by Robert Fraser, 46, of Maple, Ont., received $500 damage when it collided with a car driven by Howard Lemon, 54, of Peterborough.

There was $500 damage to the Lemon vehicle as well.

The OPP report that the Lemon vehicle was west-bound and the Fraser vehicle eastbound when the collision occurred.

William Roberts, 20, of Haliburton, received minimal injuries when the car he was driving collided with a vehicle driven by Barry Ward, 21, of Port Hope.

The accident took place Oct. 16, at 3:15 a.m., at the corner of Victoria and Pine Streets in Haliburton Village.

There was $600 damage to each vehicle.

Ward has been charged with failing to yield and failing to notify about a change of address.

News from Extendicare

BY DR. O.W. ANDERSON

We started this week by adding a new member to our Happy Gang, Mr. Duncan Bethune. It appears that he will be a good mixer and that is what we need. We will try to give him a good welcome. Unemployment is a very devastating influence on Canada's economy and unity.

Strangely, in our every day living it is scarcely noticed. Children graduate, some go to teachers college, some go to university and some go into financial institutions for training and finally secure employment and so on through all the various activities of our society. In this place and no doubt in any of the nursing homes for example, peace and tranquility reign because no one is demanding more pay than he or she is worth. In the heavier industries, labor getting more pay than their productive capacity can justify, sends a ripple of devastation up the chain where it is found that costs are enormously higher than expected, and the ultimate payer who is very often government, adjust their budget which means higher taxes or extravagant borrowings. Strikes cost the nation plenty and ultimately leads to more unemployment. In the lumber industry pay that is higher than justified, leads to prices that prices the employer out of world lumber trade. That and mismanagement in government is our problem. Obviously it will take a long time and much, much misery to solve. Let us hope we have labor peace so that labor can have a few years to enjoy the fruits of their long struggle. Thursday afternoon was our birthday party for four of our gang, Mrs. Lila Simmons, Mrs. Evelyn Anderson, Jack Kinnear and Gerald Covert. Our celebration takes the form of lively old time songs sung previously to the piano accompaniment of Mrs.

Betty Salvatori, but today, owing to the death of her mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Bush we were obliged to have a substitute pianist, Mrs. Maxine Curry, who did a delightful job. Finally we came to the birthday cake part served with tea, milk or juice, a part of the celebration we have come to enjoy very much, nor was that all. About the time of the last morsel we were joined by a party of three evangelists, bringing with them two guitars and some fine musical talent in singing, to the accompaniment of the guitars many favorite hymns and spirituals. They were Mr. Jerome and Mrs. Marjonneke Tjerstra and Mr. A. Depagter. The latter, the speaker, appealed to us to accept Christ as a dweller within us so that we may have eternal life. They were exceedingly nice people who plan to be in this area for three weeks, having meetings in homes. Eventually they plan to establish an evangelistic mission in Spain. Friday morning was our usual devotional period and Capt. Doug Barry was our spiritual leader. Mrs. Florence begged off from the piano so the singing was accompanied by Capt. Barry's accordion and Charles Plewman's harmonica. It was a change and quite melodious. The theme describes Christ as our refuge when trouble is at hand. A discussion group in the afternoon described the very low water levels in our lakes district as being very destructive to our sport fishing and that the water level management in the Trent-Severn Waterway was irresponsible. Our discussion finally moved to speculating on a motor trip to the Thousand Islands for an overnight stay using some local motel for accommodation. It was agreed that we will have to wait until spring to do this. Tonight we got a pleasant surprise. About two weeks ago the staff brought in a shrub that we had been looking after at the front of our building. All this time we have considered it a species of willow potted in a nail keg. We still do not know what to call it but now it is showing signs of coming into bloom, some buds of which are just beginning to open, and which have a pink color. It will be quite a treat for us because

Report from Ottawa

BY MP BILL SCOTT

The federal government passed lightly over the serious economic problems plaguing our country in the Speech From the Throne, last Tuesday, placing the heaviest emphasis on extending the use of French across the country, and proposals for amending the Canadian Constitution.

This proves once again that the government has its priorities mixed up, and that it will continue to follow its practice of trying to hide the old problems by creating new ones.

At one point in the Speech, prepared by the Prime Minister's staff and read by Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth, the government said "The human hardship imposed by the current level of unemployment in Canada is deeply disturbing."

That is exactly what we in the Official Opposition have been saying for years. We didn't want to see such a statement in the Throne Speech. What we wanted to see, and what the Canadian people wanted to see, was some indication that the government planned some action to solve this critical problem.

Here are some examples of what the government should be concentrating on in the up-coming session of Parliament.

- We have the highest rate of unemployment in Canada since the days of the Great Depression.
- We have a deficit already this year in tourism of nearly two billion dollars, and the year is far from over.

- We have a current deficit in foreign trade approaching eleven billion dollars, and it continues to worsen.
- Canadian manufactured products are being priced out of world markets. - This is aggravated by a drop in investments by Canadians in their own industries. Business and industry cannot expand, and thereby create new jobs, without this investment.

- The Canadian dollar has been dropping steadily in value, and at one point last week it fell more than ten cents behind the U.S. dollar. Our government has tried to support the dollar artificially by selling part of our reserves of foreign currency, but despite a loss of over 400 million dollars, the Canadian dollar continues to drop in value.

- The Canadian federal government has been feeding the fires of inflation by over-spending, and there are no signs that this spending spree is being checked. So far this year the spending deficit at the federal level is eight billion dollars. In the past nine years, federal spending in Canada has increased by three and a half times. By way of contrast, federal spending in the U.S. has increased by 2.4 times.

Those are the real problems facing our government, and they cannot use the excuse that they do not know about them. All of us are aware of them, but only the federal government can initiate positive action to solve them.

We need jobs more than we need an extension in the use of French. We need economic stability more than we need amendments to the Constitution.

We must act immediately to attempt to restore the confidence of investors in Canadian industries and businesses. Billions of dollars in Canadian investment capital have been taken out of the country, and the flow continues. It would not serve any purpose to simply close our borders. The money would not be invested anyway, because there is a lack of confidence. There is plenty of time to amend the Constitution after those problems have been brought under control.

From the Chamber

BY BOB STINSON

The new board of directors of the Chamber held their first directors meeting last week and the first order of business was to select their executive for the coming year. Dennis Casey having served two years as vice-president was elected president, and John Hogg was elected vice-president. John has been a director of the Chamber for two years, serving as chairman of the Finance Committee and of the Public Affairs Committee. Both appointments were unanimous decisions by the board. Dennis Waymouth is the immediate past-president and will serve as the third member of the Management Committee. This committee will be meeting this week to decide on appointments of committee chairmen from within the board. Once our directors know what committee they are chairing we expect they will be contacting some of our members to serve on their committees.

Immediately after the election at our annual meeting one enthusiastic member came forth and suggested he would like to be considered for a director for next year and would make himself available for committee work this year. We would like to remind all our members that nominations are open for directors throughout the year, not just immediately prior to the annual meeting. Just let us know and we'll be glad to talk it over with you.

At the annual meeting we did not issue a "warning". We issued a plea to our membership to provide input on what direction they wish us to take. We would like to emphasize once again that we get embroiled in these debates and battles on what we feel is your behalf, and if you feel we are fighting for something you don't believe in please let us know so we can turn our efforts to more constructive things.

One of the issues we are involved in is the water level fluctuation in the reservoir lakes. It is gratifying to note that the Trent-Severn authorities have reversed their decision to lower the lakes another two feet late this winter. It's not really so much a matter of the authorities giving in under pressure, as it is a matter of being faced with the facts that this move was going to cause far more hardship on local people than they had realized. We are presently preparing a questionnaire to be mailed to all our members in regard to the economic impact that the fluctuation of water levels may have had on their business. Anyone who is not a member of the Chamber of Commerce, but has been affected economically by this problem is certainly invited to also fill out a questionnaire. Anyone in this category may call the Chamber of Commerce office and we will gladly mail a questionnaire to you.

Gary Agnew, our Highlander of the year, wrote to us to thank us for the honor of being selected for this year's award. Gary also added, humbly, that the award should really go to all the people in his community because as we all know, "they are noted for their spirit and their effort to make whatever task or drive that is underway a complete success." Gary certainly is a worthy recipient of this award from a very worthy community.

Hard at the heels of the overwhelming success of our Canada Manpower Outreach Office here in Haliburton, Bancroft is now expecting to open a similar office in that area. Our staff of Jayne Northgrave and Susan Burk have been invited to attend a meeting in Bancroft to explain our operation and offer suggestions on how best they may get underway. It would appear that since our girls have done such an excellent job of putting this program into effect, and the community has been so co-operative in helping to make it work, that Haliburton has now become somewhat of a model after which other programs of this nature will be patterned.

Score another point for the Highlands.

It seems we are continually hounding local organizations to please let us know of their future activities so that we can help promote them. If they were all as enthusiastic as the Lake Kawagawag Tourist Association we would have little difficulty in keeping up to date with what's going on. This week we had three - count them, three, separate members of their association advise us of their decision to run a snowmobile rally on February 25. It is good to see that this association is certainly aware of the benefits of keeping their Chamber informed.

The Chamber is once again co-operating with the Federal Business Development Bank to provide a small business seminar at the PineStone Inn on November 10. The topic will be Cash Flow Budgeting and Incorporation - Should you or Shouldn't you. A case history will be studied which is a sequel to the one used last year. Gary Thurston, Chartered Accountant, who recently set up his practise in Minden, will be guest speaker for part of the agenda. The cost is $15.00 per person which includes lunch and all necessary materials. Anyone in business can certainly derive considerable benefit from this seminar and we urge you to attend. Invitations will be forthcoming in the mail and more information may be obtained from either our office or that of F.B.D.B.

Karen Barry, RN, the daughter of Mr. & Mrs. Laverne Barry, is now working at the Baylor University Medical Centre in Dallas, Texas. Karen is a graduate of Sir Sandford Fleming College.

Additional officers and auxiliary officers on hand for Oct. 31 Hallowe'en

Minden - The Minden detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police will have additional officers and auxiliary officers working on Monday, Oct. 31, in an effort to curb the mischief that on occasion has occurred during Hallowe'en. "The police, firemen, Haliburton Area Radio Club and the REACT group hope to team up again throughout the county in order to observe what is happening," it is stated in a news release from the OPP.

It notes in the release that strict enforcement will result from any cases of vandalism or rowdiness.

UNIROYAL Snow Tires

Price? Performance? Some drivers think they have to compromise between the two. Obviously the more you pay for a snow tire the more features you get. But at Uniroyal we build in performance at each and every price level. Result: no matter what you invest you get full value for your tire money. And by having this range of snow tires we can say "We're a one-stop tire shop" because Uniroyal has a tire to fit every car (well, almost!) and certainly a tire for every pocketbook.

Haliburton Highlights

BY CREIGHTON FEIR

Ethel Dean of Haliburton had her sister Mrs. Bertha Rogers from Little Rock and her brother George Redford from Hartford, Conn., U.S.A., and her brothers and sisters from Toronto, visit her here last week.

The Senior Citizens Club who meet at the auditorium of the Haliburton Arena, every Thursday, now have 105 members. They will be holding their monthly potluck dinner and meeting this Thursday, Oct. 27. Members are asked to bring whatever they wish in the line of food to this meeting.

Rev. George Meades was the guest speaker when the Brotherhood of Anglican Churchmen held their monthly Communion and Breakfast at St. Margaret's Anglican Church at Wilberforce on Sunday, October 17, who took as his topic the subject of using bad language and the effect it has on the person themselves and others. He pointed out that as Christians we must set a good example. He went on to point out some of the problems he has run into by visiting at the homes of people who use bad language or take the Lord's name in vain without even knowing what they are saying.

At the September meeting of the Haliburton County Social Planning Council, held in the Community Hall at Lochlin, the minutes of the steering committee were read and a letter of resignation from Peggy Neville explained that pressure of business forced this decision. It was accepted with regret and upon motion by Lorne Coburn, and seconded by Dave Woodall, Dr. Christiansen was elected chairman for the balance of the year.

Certain sections of the exterior of the Haliburton Arena have been painted brown and it looks very attractive. It sure has added a great deal to the appearance of the building.

In a recent issue of the Canadian in the Toronto Star, there appeared a write-up on The Legend and Legacy of Tom Thomson. In this article the name of Charles Plewman, who is now at Extensicare Haliburton, is mentioned several times.

The next meeting of the Haliburton County Social Planning Council will be held at the Legion Hall in Haliburton on Thursday, Oct. 27. The speaker will be Mr. Alan Cavell, Consultant, Senior Citizens Services, Ministry of Community and Social Services.

The Rev. Reginald Stackhouse, of Toronto, a former Member of Parliament for the Progressive Conservative party in the Federal House was the guest preacher at St. George's Anglican Church at Haliburton on Sunday, Oct. 17.

The Haliburton Highlands Secondary School Glee Club is holding a "Gala" on Sat., Oct. 29. Included in this gala will be a Rummage Sale for which they need donations of clothing, books, trinkets and toys. These items may be left at Bill Gliddon's garage (Cedar Ave., Haliburton) Oct. 27 and 28 between 4 p.m. and 9 p.m.

The famous motion picture Star Wars, which was shown at the Beaver Theatre in Minden last weekend, will return again this weekend, playing Friday, Saturday and Sunday, Oct. 28, 29, and 30.

The Haliburton Highlands Secondary School Glee Club is having a "Whale-of-a-Sale" at Steinberg's Fruit Market, Haliburton, this coming Saturday, Oct. 29 from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Fun in the Fall is Fun for All. Help support the Glee Club.

We have just been informed that a drop-in centre will be starting this coming Friday, Oct. 28 and will be open again on Wednesday, Nov. 2, from 7 p.m. to 11 p.m. This drop-in centre is for the students of the Haliburton Highlands Secondary School and the Haliburton Highlands Senior Elementary School. It will be held at the Arena Auditorium at Haliburton and will be under the supervision of an adult and two students who will be present to make sure that it is a smooth running operation. This is a grand opportunity for the young people to meet for fun and recreation. It is something that has been badly needed in the community for some time. Let's hope that there will be big turnouts at the drop-in centre.

A great improvement has been made at the Haliburton Post Office. The driveway and the parking area have just recently been paved. The parking lot has been enlarged and will provide more parking area for the post office employees and the rural route drives.

Sewer construction is underway in Haliburton and the fill is now being dumped on the site of the new proposed recreation area at Head Lake. We are looking forward to the time when this new park becomes a reality. If this project is done properly it should be a big drawing card for the village.

Mr. & Mrs. J.L. Brown, Riverside Drive, had as weekend visitors Mr. & Mrs. G. Small of Weston. Lew and Gerry being firefighters for the Borough of Etobicoke for many years, escorted their wives to the Haliburton Firemen's Ball. An exceptionally good time was enjoyed by all.

Arrow TV and Communications, at Haliburton, announced this week that they are adding another division to their already established business to be known as Haliburton Discount Mart. Keith Prior, owner of this business told us this week that they will carry the same merchandise plus more at greatly reduced prices. There will be no factory warranty but they will service what they sell. Everything in the store will be at discount prices. The grand opening of the Discount Mart will be on November 1st when The Echo will be covering the event with a story and photos. Mr. Prior went on to say that if they can get the support of the public they will be selling better products at lower prices.

Life at the chemical works
After Christmas, in January 1911, I went to work at the Chemical Works at Donald. The Standard Chemical Co. had built a plant at Donald, about four miles south of Haliburton on the Lindsay Haliburton branch of the old Grand Trunk Railway. The reason for the plant was to make wood alcohol, acetate and charcoal out of the hardwood timber that was plentiful in the area. It was reported to have cost a million and a half dollars. There was a big oven house, an engine house and coal sheds. They put in a waterworks system, the first in the country. They built houses for their steady men and a boarding house for their casual help. The plant and houses were serviced with water and electric lights, another first for that country. I heard some people wondering how they got the coal into the light bulbs.

The oven house had eight large ovens. They were built in pairs and held six cords of wood each. The wood was loaded on buggies. The buggies were made of iron and ran on tracks like the railway cars. They held two cords each. A cord of wood is four feet wide, four feet high and eight feet long. The buggies were brought into the oven house by a team of horses. There was a turntable in front of each oven. The buggies were turned and pushed by hand into the ovens one at a time. They were coupled together with a short piece of chain. Each oven held three buggies.

When the ovens were filled the great iron door was closed and locked up tight by a large key driven in with a sledge hammer. The ovens were then fired from underneath. Any kind of wood was used to fire the ovens. When they got hot, the steam from the wood ran through a condenser and was turned to a liquid that looked like tar. It ran down into a tank and was processed later. When the ovens had been fired for about twelve hours, they gave off a gas. Some of this gas was piped into the firebox and from then on the ovens were self heating. It took about twenty-four hours for the liquid to stop running. Then the ovens were ready to be "pulled." The fireman blew the whistle and everyone dropped what they were doing and went to the oven house to help pull the ovens. The oven man had driven all the big keys out of the doors, except one. This key was driven out and a man ran in with a hook on a piece of rope, hooked it into the door and he and two other men pulled the door open. Then the oven would burst into flames. There was a chimney over the oven to draw off some of the flames, still it was a very hot job. Two men would bring a rail and connect it with the rail in the oven. Another man hooked a chain on the front buggy and they would be pulled out and into the cooler. The buggies stayed in the cooler for twenty-four hours, and then taken out and left on a side track for a few days before the charcoal was loaded into boxcars. While the ovens were still open, more buggies were brought in and pushed into the ovens.

Hard maple and beech timber were used to make the charcoal and alcohol. Hundreds of men cut the wood during the summer. They were paid by the cord. The wood would be piled and measured.

By the time the ovens were

The Word of God by Brian V. Sullivan

We continue our discussion of the "Abrahamic Promises" today with an examination of the GREAT LAND PROMISE. If God has fulfilled this in the course of past history, then we should recognize that there will be no additional fulfillment in the future. Since God is the giver of the scripture, let us see what He has revealed in the matter.

Let us begin with the promises pertaining to the land itself. What did God promise? What would it encompass? These are some of the facts that we should ascertain. In Genesis 12:5 we read: "...and into the land of Canaan they came." Now, advancing to Genesis 12:7 we find the first promise of the giving of land expressed in the first part of the verse: "And the Lord appeared unto Abram, and said, Unto thy seed will I give this land." A GOOD WORKMAN "Whatsoever thy hand findeth to do, do it with thy might." Eccl. 9:10

When King Solomon penned these words he was well aware that the way to success was not found in doing things half-heartedly and without a true sense of pride in workmanship. Had he not seen the fine and the carefully wrought material that went into the tabernacle and later into the temple where the Lord God met with His people? One of the marks of a good mechanic has always been pride in his craft. Men who make fine furniture have this in common with men who build bridges or sky-scrapers - their work is the testimonial of their skill. There have been unnumbered Americans who would have rather dug ditches than turn out "sloppy" work.

That state of mind seems to be passing in our day and age. Altogether too many workers seem interested only

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren
1977 by The Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: Ralph and I got a call at 5 a.m. from Vera, the 30-year-old woman our 19-year-old son is living with. We had never met Vera, but we threw Junior out of our house because he was over her place all the time, anyway. Vera was frantic because Junior hadn't been "home" for two nights. Imagine the gall! Ralph said Vera was hysterical, so he thought he should get dressed, go to her place and calm her down. Meanwhile, I went back to sleep. Well, Ralph was gone for 18 hours and I was half-crazy worrying about him. When he came home, I noticed he had worn his best suit and shoes. He told me he had taken Vera to dinner, and Junior never did show up. What do you call a man who leaves his wife's bed to pacify a woman he's never met because his son didn't come "home" to her? His excuse was that he wanted to see the environment his son was living in.

DISGUSTED

DEAR DISGUSTED: How about a "C.P.E." (Concerned Pacifying Environmentalist)?

DEAR ABBY: When a friend has taken his own life, out of kindness and consideration for the family, should the whole thing be ignored as though it had never happened? I mean, should there be no flowers, letters of condolence, or mention of it at all?

Some I have spoken to about this seem to feel that this is the best way to handle suicide deaths. What is your opinion?

ANONYMOUS

DEAR ANONYMOUS: When a dear one dies, his family suffers a loss, whether he has taken his own life or not. Friends should express their sorrow and offer words of comfort to the family without reference to the circumstances.

DEAR ABBY: When some poor, ignorant, unimaginative dolt points to the work of a serious modern artist and asks, "What is THAT supposed to be?" how should the artist respond?

BEWILDERED

DEAR BEWILDERED: The artist tells the dolt what he had in mind when he put the brush to the canvas. (If he can remember, that is.)

DEAR ABBY: You often print letters from telephone operators complaining about what they have to put up with from the public. As a member of the "public," may I get in my 2 cents' worth?

I have never called directory assistance to find out whether I should use 10 large eggs instead of 12 small ones in an angel food cake, how to spell "conscientious objector," what Pat Nixon's real first name is, or the answer to any other such questions.

When I call MR. Jones person-to-person at home, and his wife answers saying he is not in, the operator inevitably asks, "Would you like to speak to MRS. Jones?"

Why on earth would I be calling MR. Jones if I wanted to speak to his wife? And with Mrs. Jones right on the line listening, what am I supposed to say, "No, I don't want to talk to her?" So I end up not speaking to the person I called, and paying person-to-person rates for it.

I realize that not all operators are alike, but customers aren't, either.

Bill Smiley

Nega Prod

By BILL SMILEY

SOME people, like me, believe in rolling with the punches, rather than sticking out our chins to show how many we can absorb. I have found that, in general, if I avoid trouble, trouble avoids me.

If I know that some pain in the arm has been trying to get me on the phone, I also know immediately that he or she wants me to do something that I don't want to do. Therefore, I take the phone off the hook and leave it off until the pain has found some other sucker.

Another invention of mine to stay out of trouble is patented as Nega-Prod. This is short for Negative Production. The theory is simple. The more you produce, the more problems you have, whether it is children, manufactured goods or farm products.

The more children you have, the more emotional and economic problems you create for yourself. The more goods you produce, the more you have to hustle to find customers and meet payrolls. The more farm stuff you raise, whether it's beef or beans, the greater your chance of being caught in a glut on the market.

Our great national railways caught on to this years ago. When they had lots of passengers, they had lots of problems. People wanted comfort, cleanliness, decent meals, and some assurance that they would get where they were going on time. There was much more money to be made, and fewer problems, by transporting wheat and lumber and cattle.

So the railways began treating people like cattle. Passenger trains became uncomfortable and dirty. Quality of the food dropped like a stone. And they never arrived on time.

Presfo. End of problems. No more passengers. So the railways were able to cut off non-paying passenger lines, get rid of all those superfluous things like station agents and telegraphers and train conductors, and concentrate on taking from one point to another things that paid their way and didn't talk back: newsprint, coal, oil, wheat.

Perhaps this is the answer for our provincial governments, which are quickly and quietly building massive mountains of debt for future taxpayers.

Perhaps they should just stop building highways, and repairing those already in existence. We'd all be sore as hell for a while, but as the roads got worse and worse, most of us would stop driving Booze Day, once a week, every week, say on a Saturday, it would solve a number of problems. It would certainly reduce the surplus population. This, in turn, would cut down, drastically, the unemployment figures.

Should the provincial governments find that Nega-Prod is all I've suggested, some of it might spill over into the federal government, usually the last to catch on to what the country really needs.

Instead of the manna and honey flowing from Ottawa in the form of baby bonuses and pensions, we might get some terse manifestos:

"People who have more than one and a half children will be sent to jail for four years. Note: separate jails."

"Persons who plan to live past 65 and claim a pension will be subject to an open season each year, from October 1 to Thanksgiving Day. Shotguns and bicycle chains only."

"All veterans of all wars may claim participation by reason of insanity, and may apply to Ottawa for immediate euthenisation."

These might seem slightly Draconian measures, but they sure would put an end to a lot of our problems and troubles. Think of what they would do for such sinful activities as sex, growing old, and hanging around the Legion Hall, playing checkers.

But we must also think of the economic benefits. With a plug put into that river of paper money flowing from Ottawa, taxes would drop, inflation would vanish and undoubtedly, separatism would wither on the vine. People would be lined up six deep at the U.S. border, trying to get across, and that would solve, in one swell foop, our unemployment difficulties.

We could go back to being hewers of water and carriers of wood, which was our manifest destiny before the politicians got into the act.

County sports

BY JIM BADGLEY

A week or two back, I got in the prediction business and already one of my picks, the Los Angeles Dodgers, have fallen to the wayside.

I thought picking the Dodgers was going to give me a good start on the sports season, but I'm 0-1.

The Yankees played a great series and Reggie Jackson earned a great deal of his high salary. You get the feeling that Jackson and Billy Martin do most of their feuding for show. Last June when Creighton and Helen Feir and Shirley and myself went to Toronto to see the Yanks in action, there was a helmet throwing incident between Martin and Jackson. One thing for certain, it sure helped with attendance.

The ice should be in at the Dysart Community Centre at any time and before we know it we will be heading for the arena a couple of nights a week to see hockey action.

The sunshine this past weekend certainly didn't help make golfers feel any better. The poor weather this summer didn't do much for the tourist business and it was terrible for at least one golfer, yours truly.

I only played a couple of times after the middle of August because of the cold, damp weather and it is unlikely that anyone got on the links very often.

Back to the sunshine this past weekend, I happened to be out of town with the sticks and never got one round in.

The Haliburton Huskies schedule is final and the club has Friday night set aside for most of its home contests. The Huskies promise to have a very competitive team this season.

Local rules are set for hockey players in Haliburton

Haliburton - The Haliburton Minor Hockey Association has set a number of new rules for the teams operating under its jurisdiction.

After January 10 a Tri-County team player may play no more than three games for an OMHA team and remain eligible for Tri-County.

It is suggested that since an OMHA team may sign as many as 25 players that each club sign Tri-County players to fill their rosters.

The association also pointed out some OMHA rules. Rule 20 - Any Atom player may play for the PeeWee team, a PeeWee player may play for the Bantam team, and a Bantam player may play for the Midget team in the same town. Players must sign a certificate in each series in which they play and teams are still restricted to 25 signed players.

Rule 21 (d) - Midget players may move up to play Junior D hockey without losing the right to play in the minor series, however, players must sign a minor player's certificate and play Junior on this player's certificate. The junior management must present the player's minor certificate to the referees each game he uses the player as proof the minor management agrees to the participation of the player in the Junior game.

Rule 21 (d) New -- to be eligible for O.M.H.A. play-offs, whether group or O.M.H.A. championship, a player who is playing Junior D on his Minor Certificate must have played in a minimum of 50 per cent of the games played by his minor team after he has signed with the minor team.

It is stated in the Haliburton Minor Hockey Association rules that, "This Minor Hockey Association does not agree with any players participating on more than one team on a regular basis. The above rules allow you flexibility to call on assistance in emergency situations and in play-offs but at all times clearance must be obtained from the coaching staff of the respective team before calling up any player. Note that any player you hope to use in play-offs from a lower category must be signed by February 10.

Other rules include teams entering a tournament paying 50 per cent of the entry fee and that league commitments have priority over tournaments.

The responsibilities of managers in the association include a number of items. A. Team manager is responsible for arrangements for ice time games and practices, transportation, players cards and keeping of such. Game duties at home, see that visiting teams have dressing room accommodation.

B. Oversee signing of game card both home and visitors. C. Secure Time Keepers and goal judges.

D. Check sweaters of visiting team for conflicting colours. E. Be sure Referees have arrived. F. Keep game on scheduled times.

G. Secure copies of game reports from officials after contest and supply copy to visitors. H. Report games to County Echo for Sports Coverage. I. Caretaking of Team equipment.

Among the responsibilities of the coach are: A. To discipline players at all times, Eg. on ice, off ice, travelling, etc.

B. To be responsible for team selection and play. C. To instill the ideals of fair play and good sportsmanship to his team.

The trainer's responsibilities are: A. To assist coach. B. To assist manager. C. To be in charge of equipment in dressing room prior to and after games and practices.

Persons with equipment that belongs to the association are asked to turn it over to Frank Powers.

Youngsters underweight who do not have masks can play without one until more become available.

First time for Redmen

HHSS downs Lindsay 22-12

Haliburton - The Haliburton Secondary School Redmen had never defeated Lindsay Collegiate in the nine years the local club has been competing but that trend came to an end last week when Haliburton downed Lindsay 22-12.

To make the win even more impressive, Haliburton did it right at the Lindsay Fairgrounds and with the victory is the only undefeated team in the league.

Haliburton now has a record of four wins and one tie. Larry Stinson again led the way for Haliburton scoring two touchdowns, including an 86 yarder on a pitch play from quarterback Tim Davies. Stinson carried the ball 21 times for 189 yards.

The other Haliburton touchdown came on a 26 yard pass play from Davies to Brian Mulholland. The pass came off a faked field goal attempt.

Haliburton got two points on converts and picked up the other points on a two point convert.

Offensive stars for Haliburton in the game were Davies and Stinson.

Defensively Ed Roberts, Brian Shaw and Ron Yake led the way.

The defensive team made things rough on the Lindsay offense during the entire game and forced five turnovers, including two interceptions and three fumbles.

Haliburton played Brock of Cannington yesterday for the right to represent their classification in playoffs but scores were not available at press time. The winner of the game will face Norwood or Lakefield.

Haliburton has been getting big performances from its defense this season and on a point based on tackles, quarterback sacks, fumbles, blocked kicks and defensive touchdowns, Bart Barnes is on top with 57.

Dave Brown has 51, Ed Roberts 50, Kevin Finch 42, Brian Shaw 41, Ron Yake 32, Roger Hicks 27, Brent Collier 24, Jim McCracken 22 and Andy Anderson 21.

R.R. 2, Haliburton - 457-1951

Harcourt - The Meryle Dolan Evangelistic Team arrived at the Harcourt Community Chapel on Sunday, October 23. The Chapel was full for the opening service.

Lloyd Knight's singing with special orchestrated accompaniment was enjoyed by all. Mr. Knight is greatly in demand. He is widely known through his appearances on the People's Church T.V. programme. Lloyd Knight's music has a universal appeal to both young and old.

On the opening night Meryle Dolan preached a challenging message on "God's Highway". He spoke of the importance of being on God's highway as opposed to the multitude of ways invented by man. He asserted that all ways do not lead to heaven. His experience of getting lost on his way to Haliburton County was used to illustrate the importance of being on the right road. Mr. Dolan used as one of his main texts the words of Jesus, "I am the Way, the Truth, and the Life: no man cometh unto the Father but by Me."

As well as an obvious enjoyment of this first service there was a strong sense of anticipation of the services for the balance of the week. Mr. Hughes in his announcements explained that there would be different musical talent through the early part of the week and that Lloyd Knight would be back again for the Friday, Saturday and Sunday services.

Since the chapel was full on the first night and with the enthusiasm that was in evidence, it is anticipated that the chapel will be inadequate to accommodate the crowd on the closing weekend. For this reason the last three services are being held in the Lloyd Watson Community Centre in Wilberforce.

tance of energy-related transportation costs, smaller - more localized - firms will be more energy-saving than the larger, regional or national enterprises. With developing technology, there will, in the years ahead, also be much greater emphasis on small-scale operations, which take advantage of local resources.

He said that he believes that a strong and expanding small business sector will enable the province and the country to be more competitive and more self-sufficient.

"Clearly the time has come when we must accept the fact that we can no longer rely upon sale of our natural resources, or borrowing in the international money markets, as the means to compensate for our enormous trade deficit. Small firms have the potential to make a major contribution to the balance of payments - by replacing imports. This is just one example of the extent to which a strengthened and expanded small business sector would generate essential economic and social benefit for this province, and for the country as a whole."

He noted that a thriving small business sector encourages individual initiative and the development of full personal potential in the business world.

"As a general rule, small firms offer wider scope to the individual, the possibility of making a greater, more personal contribution, and also, in many cases, increased opportunity for personal advancement," he said.

Mr. Eakins said that the small business sector employs between 50 and 60 per cent of working Canadians. "Small business is labor intensive and can create new jobs much more quickly and cheaply than capital intensive industries," he said.

"A healthy economy should consist of a mix of small, medium and large firms, since each enterprise has a different optimal size in terms of efficiency and effectiveness, depending on the market it serves. In order to preserve the necessary balance, to prevent a natural tendency toward industrial concentration, a constant flow of new venture start-ups is essential. Small firms operate most effectively and efficiently in specific sectors," Mr. Eakins said.

He added that government policy has done a great deal to assist medium and large corporations, through the use of tax incentives, write offs, credit and deferrals, little has been done to aid small business. "Policies designed to benefit large corporations often have a negative impact on the small business sector, which must be viewed as a separate entity, with different problems and different needs," he said.

He pointed out that in order to enable small business to continue and to expand its role in the economy, government must provide assistance through incentives and programs specifically designed to ameliorate the problems facing this sector.

"The time has come when we must make a definite and Local member named to Liberal task force

John Eakins, MPP for Victoria-Haliburton has been named to a Liberal Party task force to study the problems of regional government in Ontario.

The task force will be headed by Herb Epp, MPP for Waterloo North.

In a release from Stuart Smith, leader of the opposition Liberal Party it is noted that the eight-member committee will hold public hearings in selected areas of the province and prepare a report on their findings by mid-March.

The report will be used in the development of policy by the Liberal Caucus, the release stated.

"The emphasis is on government in the urban and urbanizing areas," Mr. Epp said, "including regional government."

Mr. Epp pointed out that the Liberals are concerned with the problems that have developed with regional government. "We're looking for more information on those problems as well as a satisfactory alternative to the regional government structure," he said.

Other members of the committee are Paul Blundy, Sarnia; Jim Bradley, St. Catharines; Eric Cunningham, Wentworth North; Remo Mancini, Essex South; Gordon Miller, Haldimand-Norfolk; and Robert Nixon, Brant-Oxford-Norfolk.

All sizes of dogs need to be obedient, from the very small ones to the large size like the one in the picture. Kathy Misener offers the area an obedience course for dogs.

firm political commitment to the small business community. My party has already made such a commitment. Last April we released a policy paper, "New Directions for Small Business," to which my proposed bill is a logical follow-up," Mr. Eakins said.

Mr. Eakins explained to the members in the legislature briefly what the bill is intended to do.

"The bill defines a small business and allows the Minister of Industry and Tourism, by regulation, to utilize other criteria in determining what constitutes a small business, which will vary from industry to industry. The object of the legislation is that the Gov-

'78 Ford Fairmont Creates New Class of Transportation

FAIRMONT STATION WAGON The 1978 Ford Fairmont (top) sports a clean front end, highlighted by a bright grille and modern rectangular headlamps.

The Ford Fairmont station wagon (bottom) is expected to be one of the car line's most popular models. Shown here with optional luggage rack, simulated wire wheel covers and Squire woodgrain bodyside treatment, the Fairmont wagon has nearly 80 cubic feet of cargo area with the rear seat folded down.

The all-new 1978 Ford Fairmont combines the economy and maneuverability of a compact with the interior roominess and comfort of a mid-sized car.

"Our engineers have created an efficient new class of transportation," said William J. Hawkins, Ford of Canada vice president and general manager. "Canadians will be able to choose from a full lineup of models — two- and four-door sedans as well as a surprisingly spacious four-door station wagon."

Fairmont's aerodynamic refinement is reflected in its clean front end, highlighted by a bright grille and modern rectangular headlamps. The similarly uncluttered rear view is dominated by bold taillights. Bright front and rear bumpers are built strong, yet are of lightweight extruded aluminum. Thin roof pillars and expansive glass areas afford excellent all-around visibility.

Powered by a standard 2.3 litre four-cylinder engine with four-speed manual transmission, all models share a 105.5 inch wheelbase with an overall length of 193.8 inches. Optional engines include the 3.3 litre six cylinder and the 5.0 litre V-8.

To minimize the draining effect of weight on fuel economy, a major effort has been made by Ford engineers to keep Fairmont trim. One way this was accomplished was by using lightweight, yet strong materials. In all, approximately 140 pounds of high strength steel, 115 pounds of aluminum and 145 pounds of high strength synthetics were used in Fairmont. As a result the base Fairmont weighs about 300 pounds less than the 1977 Maverick.

The Fairmont body structure was formulated and refined through computer analysis and wind tunnel testing. Technical features include an efficient strut front suspension, smooth-riding, four-bar link coil rear suspension, responsive rack and pinion steering and an innovative cast centre section rear axle.

Sophisticated design techniques give Fairmont exceptional interior spaciousness. Rear seat passengers, particularly will appreciate the new thin-back front seat design that provides rear seat knee clearance of 1.6 inches in both two- and four-door sedan models. A bench seat configuration is standard with six and V-8 engines, while four cylinder models with the four-speed manual transmission come with standard bucket seats.

Fairmont's new instrument panel features an easy-to-read two-pod instrument cluster. Easy-to-operate stall moment controls on the steering column help minimize driver distraction.

Cargo capacity is another standout Fairmont feature. The spare tire storage compartment is located beneath the trunk floor in sedan models; resulting in a convenient flat load floor with a full 16.8 cubic feet of storage capacity. The cargo volume of the Fairmont station wagon is a big 79.5 cubic feet.

Fairmont buyers can choose from an extensive list of optional equipment including the variable ratio power steering system designed especially for this car. A notable Fairmont package is the LS option. Six radio options also are available including AM-FM stereo units with cassette or eight-track tape players. A special wiper/washer option can be ordered for the liftgate window on Fairmont station wagon.

enment of Ontario shall aid, counsel, assist and protect, insofar as possible, the interests of small business."

"Provision is made for the establishment of a target of 40 per cent of total government purchases, contracts, or sub-contracts for goods, services and real property, to be placed with small businesses within a period of three years. This figure of 40 per cent is considered reasonable by many people, including the Canadian Federation of Independent Business. The United States small business legislation has been in effect since 1953 - almost 25 years, and at this time one-third of government contracting goes to small business. However, the U.S. legislation in this respect relies upon persuasion - it is not mandatory.

"The bill proposes a Small Business Certificate to designate a business enterprise considered to be in a sound financial and productive position for the purpose of this act, and which may be revoked if the minister determines that it is no longer a small business, or in a sound financial and productive position.

"Where tenders are sought by the government or its agencies, a tender submitted by the holder of a Small Business Certificate shall be accepted, if all specified minimum requirements are met, and the price quoted is no higher than any other qualified applicant.

"The minister would be required to develop a small business sub-contracting program to enable small businesses to be considered fairly as sub-contractors and suppliers to contractors. Such a program would include provision that any firm awarded a government contract over $500,000 shall employ a small business liaison officer, to be responsible for sub-contracting portions of the work to small businesses, wherever possible.

"Provision is made for the minister to assist small businesses to obtain government contracts for research and development, and to ensure that small business benefit from research and development performed under government contracts or at government expense. Preference shall be given to Canadian owner/managed businesses in allocating research grants and loans.

"The minister may consult with a representative, or representatives, of one or more small businesses or encourage the formation of co-operatives, capitalized by a group of small firms, with resources provided by them for the provision of central services or for the purpose of obtaining raw materials, equipment, inventories, supplies, or the benefits of research and development, or for establishing facilities to undertake and utilize applied research.

"Establishment of a standing committee of the legislature is recommended, to be known as the Small Business Committee, which would review and report upon all aspects of small business activity warranting legislative attention. Such a committee would, of course, receive submissions from various groups, as well as consider governmental and private assistance available with respect to training, manpower and management development, as well as research, technical and scientific assistance."

Mr. Eakins noted that the bill is the first of its kind in Canada. "No other Canadian jurisdiction, federal or provincial, has a small business act," he said.

Maple Lake United Church celebrates 75th anniversary

Maple Lake - Members of Maple Lake United Church gathered recently to celebrate the church's 75th anniversary with a special service.

A history of the church is a special booklet read: On December 1, 1900, a meeting of committees from Maple Lake and Pine Lake (West Guilford) congregations was held at the home of Durlin Demille, to consider the advisability of building a new church at Clarke's Corners. The Rev. H. Foley presided at the meeting.

On December 19, 1900 the project proved favorable and with $250.00 cash, plus volunteer work, a committee was set-up. The new building was to seat 150 people and was to be frame built with wainscoting and plaster interior and a V-joint ceiling. A driveway was also to be built to accommodate five teams. Names that may be of interest in this project were Demille, Fader, Cook, Jones, Archer, Liscombe, McPhail, Boce, Fetterley, Bird, Barnum, McIntyre, Horsley, Sawyer, Barry, Henderson, Woodcock Deacon and Baker.

December 1901 saw the main building completed, insured by R.H. Baker and ready to be furnished by a very anxious and appreciative congregation, who raised the necessary finances by pledges, social teas, honey socials and volunteer work.

In 1902 a pulpit was acquired from Lindsay Sunday School, and also an organ which was taken over by Mrs. Middleton, Mrs. Cora Sawyer. Later, Mrs. Middleton was instrumental in forming the first Ladies' Aid of this church. Names of ladies who helped her persevere included Sawyer, Fader, Scriver, Boice, Clarke and Demille.

Now there is so much human interest wrapped up in these years, and in the intervening years from 1902 to the present, that one must, of necessity, be very grateful to these loyal, and God-fearing people. However, the sentiment has passed down to us and we shall endeavor to acquaint you with some of the projects most successful for us. In the years 1945-46, we were re-organized under Rev. K.P. Jull. Names familiar to that group were W. Fader, Secretary-Treasurer; also M. Horsley, President & members M. Redner, G. Fader, D. Sawyer, E. Fader, M. Cooper L. Fader, L. Sawyer, E. Packard and M. Fader.

Projects carried through by these ladies and others who joined later were:

In 1950's - The interior of the church was renovated, plastering being done by Ralph Joyce and re-staining of wainscoting, pews and floor by James Fader and son, Claude. Much of the revenue for this came from radio donations due to the interest given by Rev. G. Smythe of Summerhill Church of Toronto. He presented our problem to the listening public during his devotional spot on radio at that time. The response was most heartening and appreciated. In 1958, a basement was added to our church. Rev. MacDonald was minister in charge.

In 1960's - A kitchen was completed, cupboards built by M. Cooper, dishes and silverware furnished by the U.C.W. and several by D. Sawyer from her lodge. 1962 saw a furnace installed in 1962, the Ladies Aid became the United Church Women under Rev. D. Staples.

In 1970's - New drapes were hung in the Sanctuary. Our overwhelmingly successful project, namely our cookbooks, materialized. Many thanks to our sponsors. This was during the ministry of Rev. W. Oake. A much appreciated paint job was given to the exterior of our church by H. Mediema. Our many thanks goes to Mr. & Mrs. W.B. Bate who donated the paint for this project in 1977 while Rev. D. Miller is officiating pastor.

Joe Cook was the first Sunday School Superintendent and also preached in the absence of the minister. His grandson, Claude Fader, now of Lindsay, also helped with Sunday School work and he was instrumental in having the electric lights installed. The Cooks are still active in our Sunday School today.

Mr. Elmer Sawyer was the first caretaker of the church and remained as such for many years. They are still helping in our church.

Several years ago the interior of our church was painted by Orval Harrison.

Special greetings came from:

- Mabel Hellins of Cameron, also present at service.

- Rev. James Bushell of Ripley, our past minister.

- Mr. & Mrs. Arthur Sisson of Toronto who placed flowers in our church in memory of her father, Mr. Len Upton.

- Mrs. H.C. Vaclavik, wife of a former minister.

- Miss Grace Irwin of Toronto.

- Mr. & Mrs. Roy Degear.

- Mrs. Sadie Stevenson (Baker) of Toronto was present. She was born in West Guilford and christened in this church.

- Mrs. Edith Griffin, first baby to be christened in this church, was present at the service.

Minden and Carnarvon choirs helped at the service with special music.

Ministers at the church from 1925 until present were William Parker; R.A. McCrae; V.E. Zufelt; G.E. Anderson; G.M. Clayton; J.M. Fleming; S.B. Smith; I.E. Cavender; K.P. Jull; F.E. Madden; H.C. Vaclavik, H.R. MacDonald; David Staples, J. Cargo, James Bushell and D. Miller.

The 75th Anniversary of Maple Lake United Church was celebrated recently with a special service. Officiating minister at the service was Rev. D. Miller.

The church is located on Highway 530 near Stanhope Airport. The initial idea to build the church started in 1900 and the church was completed by 1902.

Business management seminar is planned

Haliburton - A Business Management Seminar on two very common problems faced by rapidly growing small businesses will be held in the Haliburton/Minden area, at the PineStone Inn, on Thursday, November 10, 1977. The two problems that will be discussed are: Cash Flow Difficulties and the question of Whether or Not to Incorporate.

This Seminar is arranged by the Management Services Division of the Federal Business Development Bank, in co-operation with the Haliburton Highland Chamber of Commerce, and will be one of several hundred conducted by the Bank in smaller cities and towns across Canada.

Some 25 to 30 people interested in business are expected to attend the seminar. They will be using the case study method to examine a small business, its financial statements, cash needs and the pros and cons of whether the business should incorporate.

The Bank's Management Services has three main spheres of activity: Management Training, Management Counselling and an Information Service.

The Information Service provides details of approximately 100 Federal Government assistance programs to business. There is also a pamphlet series entitled "Minding Your Own Business" which now contains 14 pamphlets on various subjects. The Small Business News is issued quarterly.

The Management Counselling provided by the Bank is done mainly by retired executives and concentrates on solving the problems of small businesses which cannot afford to employ experts on a full-time basis. This service is provided at a nominal daily rate.

The Management Training program, as well as providing seminars on various subjects of interest to business people, also provides management courses of provincial educational institutions for the owners and managers of small businesses.

Registrations going up at local Outreach Centre

Haliburton - The Haliburton Outreach Centre, as of the end of September, had over 1,100 registrations for the year.

As of July 1 there were 745 active registrations and by September 30 an additional 374 were added.

According to a news release from the centre, 530 persons were referred to various job vacancies during the three month period. A total of 159 clients were placed in openings in the area.

It was noted in the release that although the high unemployment times were upon us there are still a number of job openings available.

"We cannot stress the fact strongly enough that if you are not registered with us - please do so. There are many programs available for our area and you are entitled to them," the release said.

It is noted in the release that it is the Outreach offices

The Standard Chemical Company has long since gone, but the remains are still visible. This is one of the buildings, or should we say what is left of them. The Standard Chemical Company was for many years one of the largest industries in the area, along with lumbering. The largest industry in Haliburton County now is tourism.

Minden and Haliburton make end points of this week's county tour

Editor's Note: This is the fourth part in a series of tours of Haliburton County. Persons interested in helping The Echo and Recorder by suggesting tours should call our office.

Haliburton County has two main commercial areas, Minden and Haliburton Village and between these two towns is the area of this week's tour.

We start at The Highlander, a train engine, which in many ways symbolizes the past in all of Canada. The Highlander is located at the intersection of Highway 121 and 519. There is also a jet mounted on the site and Sam Slick park, across the road on Head Lake.

From the Highlander we followed Highway 519 to Donald and past the old Standard Chemical Company building and see the remains of what was at one time a thriving industry in the area.

Travelling down 519 we find flat land, which for most tourists and residents of Haliburton County, is surprising, considering the Highland's fame for rugged terrain.

If you take a detour off the highway at Lochlin and turn left you will eventually come to Richie Falls. Richie Falls is one of many beautiful sites which can be found just off the "beaten path" in Haliburton County.

Going back to the highway and travelling further west one will come to the Scott's Dam Road. A short trip down the road will bring you to Scott's Dam.

This area is quite different from Richie Falls, being quite built up with lodges and cottages.

Back on 519 the tour then goes to South Lake Road. A right hand turn onto the road puts you on one of the most interesting driving adventures in the county.

The road itself leads to Minden, after twisting and turning and going up and down hills.

One stop along the road is the Minden Lookout. From the Lookout a great deal of the town of Minden can be seen.

Heading back to Haliburton there are two routes, the more direct Highway 121 and the slightly longer South Kashagawigamog Road. We chose the South Lake Kashagawigamog Road.

Ingoldsby is the only built up area on the road. Although one won't find many areas along the route that doesn't have cottages, houses or lodges.

The road comes out at Highway 519 and a left hand turn will get you back to Haliburton Village.

The Minden Lookout gives an impressive view of a large area of Haliburton County. Among the many things that can be seen from the lookout is the Village of Minden, one of two major commercial areas in Haliburton County. The village is the county seat.

Haliburton County is known for its rugged terrain, such as these large rocks in this river, but this week's tour also covers some of the flattest land in the area along Highway 519. The tour goes from Haliburton Village to Minden and then back to Haliburton Village.

It's a beautiful Saturday. So great to be in the great outdoors! These sunny, warm days are sure to be scarce from here on until next April so enjoy each one!

Congratulations to Mr. & Mrs. Bill Rutter who celebrated their 50th Anniversary last Wed., Oct. 19. Bill and Jessie, our congratulations and may you have many more anniversaries. Jessie was a Sims before marriage, from the West Guilford area and so is well known by our northern readers.

The Weaver brothers are clearing out all the shrubs and trees on the old Toronto Brick quarry at the southwestern part back of the feed mill. Take a walk down the street from the mill, towards Eric Thompsons boat storage area and see the improvements! The Weaver's bought the property this summer and already have done a good job of improving the town limits. The area has been neglected for so long and is in need of much work.

The fruit market is once again closed for the winter. That is the market at the corner of Highways 48 and 35. Also, Mike's Milk is closed for the winter months.

Mrs. Brown is open again for business at her Gulf Gas Station, after a vacation to Winnipeg.

Our local postmaster and his wife are celebrating their 30th Wedding Anniversary this weekend, as are Gord and Amy Timleck and my husband and I. Happy anniversary to the McGinnis' and Timlecks.

Mrs. Bill Liscombe passed away on Thursday at her home at Lakefield. Louella, or Aunt Louella as her neighbors on High Street used to call her, has lived for many years near or with her son, Oliver. Bill passed away some years ago. Mrs. Liscombe is resting at the Cameron Funeral Home here for burial here. To recall, the Liscombe's lived in the house now occupied by Mr. & Mrs. Rod Cameron on High Street until they left and went to Lakefield.

Some food for thought - Ambition is an idol on whose wings great minds are carried to extremes to be sublimely great, or to be nothing. Thomas Southern made that statement.

Bowling is the thing. Winter clubs are again in progress and there are a lot of activities to keep one busy.

No need to be bored with the long winter ahead! The library is always getting new books. Who says living in the country is dull! Eat your heart out, you city dwellers! Life here is very interesting!

That's why we have more new neighbors every year.

Is Indian Summer with us? With the nice weather we have had this past week we have been able to get some outside work done, at least I have. These are things that should have been done about a month ago, but with so much rain, who could get into the garden to pull up the stuff. I tried a couple of times and nearly got mired.

Have you got your costume for the Minor Hockey Masquerade Dance on Saturday evening? If you have not then don't forget that Oct. 29 is the last of this week, not next week, or later on.

Mrs. Ethel Harrison spent last week in Lindsay with her nieces, Mrs. Lorne McCallum and Miss Marjorie Dawkins.

Don't forget you have until Dec. 31 to enter the County Fair Crest Contest, colors green and gold. Theme - depict all facets of fair - no set size. This contest is open to all residents of Haliburton County, so why not try to see what you can make. Entries are sent to Mrs. Helen Johnson, R.R. 1, Minden.

Mr. & Mrs. Pentney and friends spent last week at Las Vegas, and according to all reports they may be were not big winners, but they were not losers either, so guess they had a good time.

Don't forget the monthly card party at the Orange Hall next Monday evening, time 8 p.m.

They tell me that the ice is now in the Minden Arena, so guess the next thing will be the hockey games. I hear there is a men's league this year, as well as juvenile, and the O.M.H.A. and Tri-county Minor Hockey, so if you get tired watching fighting hockey on TV, you can always go to a home game, where the rules are much stricter this year. I like hockey but Saturday night's game was a real free-for-all.

Did you know that you cannot sprinkle the perfume of happiness upon others without spilling a few drops upon yourself.

The Mini Card parties are becoming very popular at the Parish Hall. Last week the bridge prize went to Mr. Norman Taylor; highs in cribbage were Joyce Hewitt and Vera Ward; highs in euchre were Alice Clark and Lydia Coulter; lone hand Johann Beattie. These parties start at 1:30 p.m. and are held every Thursday.

The Minden and District Horticultural Society are holding their first regular meeting next Tuesday evening, November 1, at 7:30 p.m. at the municipal council chambers. There will be slides shown; all members please take note; and any others interested are invited to attend; plans are being made throughout the winter for both winter and next summer.

It was nice to see the Wilf Hewitt's and Hugh Vasey's in town last weekend.

On October 27 films are being shown in the council chambers at 9 p.m. These films are "V is for Volunteers" and "Are you warm to the Touch," and will only take up 45 minutes of your time; the ambulance personnel hope that all interested persons and general public will attend, as they are very interesting films.

Did you know that you can remove gum from clothing by freezing it with an ice cube. If the article is small, pop it into a plastic bag and put it in the freezer for half an hour or so. The gum crumbles when frozen.

The Basic Hewitts, Mrs. Edith Welch, Mrs. Ben Harrison and Mrs. W. Moore attended the funeral of Mrs. Harrison's nephew, Lloyd Bradley, at Dwight, Ont., Tuesday.

Recipe of the Week - Orange and Lemon Squares - "Base" 12 cups crushed corn flakes; one third cup soft butter; blend well and press into an 8 x 8 pan. Bake at 325 degrees for 8 min. Cool well. "Combine" 1/2 lb. desiccated coconut, 1 can sweetened condensed milk, juice and rind of 1 orange, mix well and spread over the cold base; cook at 350 degrees for 30 minutes, let cool. "Top" with lemon icing - juice and rind of 1 lemon; 1 tbsp. butter; approx. 1 cup icing sugar. Cut in fingers or squares.

Do you enjoy "Feir Play" in the paper? I do and a good laugh was had when it was mentioned in last weeks column about the film being made at the Eaton Centre, for on one news cast just a short time before that, there had been a flash of it shown.

Heard just recently that it will be another three or four months before the new tower for Barrie TV station is completed. It is nearly half way up now. Sure hope it isn't any longer, for even with cable it is poor and those without cable just cannot pick channel 3 up.

Don't forget to turn your clock back this weekend for it is then that we come to the end of daylight saving time for awhile. It seems you just get going on one time then it is changed again!

Adios and take care now.

Inventory of all pits and quarries

The Mineral Resources staff of the Lindsay District have begun preparing an aggregate inventory of all pits and quarries licensed under The Pits and Quarries Control Act, 1971.

The study will determine the amount of reserves on each licensed property that can be both feasibly and economically mined. It will also consider other relevant parameters such as local geology, and the type and quality of material present.

In some cases the property may not have marketable material in the amounts anticipated by the owner. This type of information is important when establishing and developing a mineral resources management program. It will also assist in assessing the potential of the source to supply local and/or regional demands.

The inventory will be conducted on all 245 pit and quarry operations which are administered by this District. Of this total, 238 are sand and gravel operations while the remaining seven operators mine and process bedrock for aggregate products.

Ultimately the inventory will help the ministry in its internal long term planning for natural resource programs such as forestry, outdoor recreation, and fish and wildlife, as well as mineral production. Occasionally some of the other programs tend to conflict with pit and quarry operations, and it is a desirable goal to minimize these conflicts while at the same time ensuring an adequate and continuous supply of each product.

There were well wishers from all over sending their best to the Dunbars of Norland who celebrated their 50th Anniversary last week. The couple received plaques from Prime Minister Pierre Trudeau, Premier William Davis and MPP, John Eakins. The couple has spent 48 years in the area.

The day was warm and sunny and some 160 ladies enjoyed the Victoria East District Women's Institute Craft Day held in Cameron.

Hall on Wednesday afternoon October 19. The president, Mrs. Carow, welcomed the group and officially opened the gathering.

All of the institutes of the district had displays of their craft handiwork on view. Mrs. Chris Kerr, Coboconk, demonstrated pottery making and there was a display of Mrs. Gailling's, of Lindsay, nearby to enjoy. The members of Blyth Institute had a quilt set up and were sewing on it while Mrs. Rycroft of Stith'N'Thyme, Fenelon Falls, was weaving on a loom.

There were also demonstrations of jewellery enamelling by Mrs. Ann Robertson Coboconk and hairpin lace done by Mrs. Joan Deyell, assisted by Mrs. Illa Palmer of Fenelon Falls and the 4-H Club from Cameron had a display of articles made by them. A bake table of homemade goodies, donated by district institute members, was soon sold out and $102.00 was realized from the sale of same. The door prize of a large cake was won by Mrs. May Braden of Cameron.

On Tuesday, October 18, Jennifer Verkerk, daughter of Mr. & Mrs. A. Verkerk, R.R. 1, Norland, boarded a plane and left to spend about ten months in Holland with her grandparents. Jennifer hopes to find employment in her parents' homeland and she has the extra advantage that she is bilingual and speaks both English and Dutch. She has been accepted at Queen's University, Kingston, where she plans to continue her Canadian education next fall. Good luck in this challenging venture, Jennifer.

Norland bowling team standings, as of October 19. Teams of Kim Watson - 19 points, John Maunders - 10 points, Doug Boyce - 14 points, Ernie Edwards - 9 points, Eileen Forsythe - 7 points, and Jim Boyce - 4 points. Ladies high single and triple - Rotha Bryant 267 and 637. Men's high single and trip - Ernie Edwards 294 and 725. Ladies high average - Eileen Forsythe 182 and Ernie Edwards 216 for men's high average. The bowling team are selling tickets on a Christmas present draw of $25.00 cash on December 14. Tickets are .50 each or 5 for $2.00 and are available from all members of the Norland Bowling League or ask at Post Office.

Township firemen were called to a fire on Thursday evening, October 20, about 10 p.m. when a fire was sighted across the river on Nevison Drive at the cottage formerly owned by Norman Savoy. Unfortunately, the fire had gained a firm hold before it was noticed and it was impossible for the firefighters to save the building. It was unoccupied and it is not known at this time what caused the blaze.

Butch's Bait and Gulf Station has decided to close its operations for the winter months as of October 31. The station was open last winter on a trial basis and as a result the owners have decided not to remain open again this year. Butch Pollard will be working in Minden, assisting Dave Willis at the Rockcliffe Hotel.

I was recently talking to Mrs. Gary Lytle (former Helen Gostlin) of Victoria Road and she said that she and Gary have just returned from a moose hunting trip up north. They saw several moose and even took pictures of them before the season opened but there was no sign of any after it was legal to shoot them.

Perhaps better luck next year.

Remember Hallowe'en, on Monday, October 31, when all of the children of Norland and area will be trick or treating and knocking at your door. Your child can have a safer Hallowe'en by decorating his or her costume with reflective tape or iron-on material that "lights up" when illuminated by auto headlights. Make-up, rather than mask, is recommended so a child's view is not impeded. Other safety tips are to have your youngster carry a working flashlight and cross at a corner with a streetlight, if possible. Have a safe and happy time.

Proper home insulation and heat conservation will save you money.

This is what Ontario suggests to help you cut your home energy costs.

What are some of the ways to cut your heating costs? What types of insulation are on the market? How should you choose an insulation contractor? What does "R-value" mean? What is a vapor barrier?

Those are just a few of the important questions you'll find answered in free publications now available from the Ontario Ministry of Consumer and Commercial Relations and the Ontario Ministry of Energy.

The two ministries are cooperating to inform Ontario residents about how proper home insulation can help offset increasing energy costs, and to point out other ways of conserving energy.

Facts about insulation are included in the Ministry of Consumer and Commercial Relations' interesting bulletin "Insulation: Heat in Your House, Money in Your Pocket." It covers such matters as:

- the meaning of R-value and vapor barrier
- proper ventilation
- types of insulation material
- how to check your home for existing insulation
- finding a reliable contractor
- information to help you understand the customer-installer contract
- how to check the completed job

For a free copy of the bulletin, write to: Consumer and Commercial Relations/Home Insulation, Queen's Park, Toronto, Ontario M7A 2H6

Other ideas on how to save energy and money are included in the Ministry of Energy's booklet "Energy Conservation: The Choice is Yours." Among the money-saving suggestions:

- lowering daytime and night-time temperatures
- installing storm doors and windows
- replacing air filters on warm air heating systems once a month
- closing window drapes on winter nights

Gems of Truth

in the pay envelope and not in the quality of the work they do for that pay. New machines are improperly assembled, faulty parts are stuck in, resulting in almost immediate repair work, bungling workmanship is covered over with an extra coat of paint, and the workers have lost pride of craftsmanship which once made our country very popular in the eyes of the nations.

Some people blame all this on the outcome of the late world war, some accuse union labour practices, and others claim it is the deliberate tactic of a kind of "class war" against their masters. In the midst of all this many scarcely know how to account for the collapse of confidence in our economy and production lines.

To the discerning child of God, it seems quite clear that "all" the evils of our age stem naturally from the present contempt for the Word of God. And this loss of faith in Holy Writ cannot be blamed upon union officials, communist agitators, or foreign saboteurs, the blame lies squarely at the door of denominational leaders and theological seminaries. When the so-called higher criticism began to undermine the confidence of the ministry in the Bible, they in turn passed on their doubts and bewilderment to the pews. The fashion changed in education, and Godly men found themselves crowded out by "scholars" of the new school. A generation of boys and girls grew up without faith and confidence in the authority of the Scriptures, and a chain reaction has been the result of it.

We sometimes forget that the Bible is a very practical Book. It is not only interested in getting people to Heaven, but it is quite concerned with the manner and mode of their journey. The "walk" of a believer is the great theme of the New Testament Epistles, and the rules for decent behaviour are deeply imbedded in the Old Testament writings. These are the sources from which come the homely virtues that make men great. Herein lies the source of strength that is needed in the common crises of daily living.

What department of life do the words of Solomon not fit in? Whatsoever is the "cure" for sloppy and poor workmanship, here is a safeguard against all forms of laziness and dishonesty. Here is the formula for increased production and lowered costs which troubled industrialists are searching for, and it's a pity that the rule was ever removed from our way of life. Once it was taught to children as a premise for the discharge of duties, for faithful preparation of lessons, and for the honest and honorable completion of daily chores. Such children grew up to be stable men and women, became good home-keepers and empire builders. America's forward stride has its roots in all this! But where are we heading for? The modern philosophy of "getting by" has replaced this once treasured knowledge of a task well done, and "anything goes" in the average persons mind.

God knows what goes on in that mind and He is the inventor and originator of psychology. His rules of conduct are perfect, since they are rooted in absolute knowledge of the powers of man and the limitations placed upon them. Even more than that, God knows the capacities and abilities, the strength and the weaknesses of "every individual person," and He has set forth a great rule to help us through every hard place and over every obstacle. The "key" to His rule for life is "whatsoever"! Not just the pleasant and easy tasks, but a universally applied rule for whatever confronts us. Perhaps the words of Paul are a close companion in this way of life when he says, "Whatsoever" ye do in word or deed, do all in the name of the Lord Jesus, giving thanks to God and the Father by him. Col. 3:17. Why not try God's way for a happy useful life?

The Word of God

clearer picture of what was involved is found in Genesis 13:14-15. "And the Lord said unto Abram, after that Lot was separated from him, Lift up now thine eyes, and look from the place where thou art northward, and southward, and eastward, and westward: For all the land which thou seest, to thee will I give it, and to thy seed for ever." In Genesis 13:17, Abram was instructed to walk through the land. As we come in the Bible text to Genesis 15:18 we find this description of the land: "In the same day the Lord made a covenant with Abram, saying, Unto thy seed have I given this land, from the river of Egypt unto the great river, the River Euphrates." One last passage of promise and then we will look at the fulfillment. Turn to Genesis 17:8 - "And I will give unto thee, and to thy seed after thee, the land wherein thou art a stranger, all the land of Canaan, for an everlasting possession; and I will be their God."

There should be little doubt in any Bible student's mind regarding the promised land. We should be able to turn to a map and identify it from the descriptions just given.

Did God fulfill the promise concerning the land? If so, when did it take place? Were there any conditions associated with it? These are some of our very next considerations.

Let us begin this portion of our study with the book of Joshua. Turn in your Bibles to Joshua 23:14-16. Notice the text: "And, behold, this day I am going the way of all the earth; and ye know in all your hearts and in all your souls, that not one thing hath failed of all the good things which the Lord your God spake concerning you: all are come to pass unto you, and not one thing hath failed thereof. Therefore it shall come to pass, that as all good things are come upon you, which the Lord your God promised you; so shall the Lord bring upon you all evil things, until he have destroyed you from off this good land which the Lord your God hath given you. When ye have transgressed the covenant of the Lord your God, which he commanded you, and have gone and served other gods, and bowed yourselves to them; then shall the anger of the Lord be kindled against you, and ye shall perish quickly from off the good land which he hath given unto you."

Consider also Joshua 21:43 where it declares that God gave unto Israel "all the land" and then look at 1 Kings 4:21 that describes the realm of Solomon's reign as follows: "And Solomon reigned over all the kingdoms from the river unto the land of the Philistines, and unto the border of Egypt." The same thing is expressed in these words in 2 Chronicles 9:26 - "And he reigned over all the kings from the river even unto the land of the Philistines, and to the border of Egypt." Yes, God had fulfilled his promise in the matter. But, would Israel retain the land-holding privilege? Watch for a discussion of that in our next article.

COMPACT SPLIT LEVEL

Plan Number: 76-1254:

Here's a compact and well-planned design which is perfectly suited to the narrow frontage lot. The charming brick veneer exterior conceals a surprising amount of intelligently-organized living area, making this an ideal home for the mid-sized family.

The deep weather-sheltered entrance leads into the compact foyer and up two steps to the main living area. The kitchen-nook combination, dining room and living room are on the lower level, while the three bedrooms, bath and linen storage are on the upper level.

The U-shaped kitchen and breakfast nook are logically laid out to provide the comfort and convenience of those casual family meals, while the dining room allows for more formal dining with family or friends. The dining room is separable from the kitchen via a sliding door and allows access to a possible rear deck or patio via sliding glass doors - a convenience feature for relaxed outdoor dining.

The spacious living room has good natural light and its location provides for disturbance-free entertaining.

PLAN No 76-1254

AREA: 1254 sq. ft.
WIDTH: 40 ft.

cooling off process, the buggies were hauled into the coalshed where the charcoal was loaded into boxcars with an endless chain loader. The boxcars would then be left on the track for a few days before the railway company would pick them up. This was for fear of fire. Quite often a fire would start in a boxcar load of charcoal after it had stood on a siding for days. Charcoal is very liable to spontaneous combustion. I have seen the dust on the coalhouse floor, start to burn when it was twenty degrees below zero.

The tarry liquid was pumped to a refining room where it was refined and the alcohol taken out. The remainder was pumped into shallow vats over the oven where lime was mixed with it to make acetate. After it dried to a powder, it was shovelled into bags that held from 100 to 180 pounds, and then we had to load it into boxcars.

The hardwood in that district has been used up long ago and the plant has been torn down. Nothing but a few wrecked buildings remain to tell of the great activity there in the early years of this century, except in the memories of a few of us who worked there and not many of us are left.

About the middle of January I was sent with another man and a team of horses to ice the main draw road used to bring the wood to the plant.

It would be about eight miles long at that time and there were over two hundred teams working on it. We worked at icing the road at night, after the wood teams were off the road.

We had a big tank on a set of sleighs which were the same gauge as a wagon. I think the tank held fifty barrels. We cut a hole in the ice on the river about three feet wide and six feet long. We had a ladder with round rungs that a barrel would slide up and we put one end of the ladder in the hole and the other end on the tank. There were hooks on the ladder to keep it in place. The barrel we used to fill the tank had a bale on top which was fastened to a chain and there was an eyebolt in the bottom to which was fastened a long pole. The chain from the bale in the barrel went up over the tank through a pulley to the team of horses on the other side. The procedure was to sink the barrel with the pole, and the horses pulled the barrel of water up the ladder where it hit a splashboard and dumped into the tank. The tank could be filled from either side. When the tank was filled we went on to the road. There were two, two inch holes in the back of the tank over the runner tracks, and we had long plugs to fit the holes. The teamster drove the team and I, known as the conductor, attended to the other jobs. It was my job to pull the plugs and put them in if need be. We tried to keep all ice out of the tank hole but in spite of us, some would get in and stop the flow of water. I would walk behind with a long stick and poke the ice out of the holes. I would be walking between the streams of water and it would splash up on my legs so that before long my feet and my legs to my knees would be covered with ice. It used to take quite awhile after I got back to the camp before I could get my footgear off.

We used to get what sleep we could in the camp during the day but the camp was pretty noisy with people coming and going.

Our roads nearly always followed the lakes and rivers so that water was always available. The wood teams had heavy loads to haul and we had to keep the roads in as good shape as we could. The wood would be cut in summer and would be partially dry, and even then it would weigh fifty hundred pounds to a cord. The sleighs used were the same width as a wagon and so heavily built that they were a load in themselves. The racks were seven feet wide and sixteen feet long. The wood was pulled from both sides and being cut four feet long, it made two tiers down the rack. It was piled four feet high and on the sixteen foot racks it would make two cords to a side or four cords to a load. That would make ten tons weight, which added to the heavy sleighs, made a big load for two horses. Many a poor horse was worn out on the road.

About the 1st of February, I was sent to one of the wood camps run by Jack Middlebrooks who had a contract to haul wood to the plant. My job here was to be choreboy. I had to light the stoves in the two bunkhouses and call the men up at (just think of it) three o'clock in the morning. Breakfast was at four and the lead team pulled out soon after that. There were so many teams on the road that the lead teams had to get out early to be out of the way of the other teams coming behind.

I had to clean out the stables that held about a hundred teams of horses. I had to cut the wood for four stoves. The wood was hauled to the camp in four foot lengths. I had to cut it in two and split it and carry it into the bunkhouses. The cooks choreboy carried the wood into the kitchen. I had to carry water up from the creek to keep a barrel full in each bunkhouse for the men to wash with. I had about fifteen lanterns to clean and fill every day, and I had to scrub out the bunkhouses once a week. For all this I was paid a dollar a day.

I have mentioned that there were no labor unions in those days and the lumber companies used the men pretty much as they liked. The eight hour day had not been heard of. My father said that once when working for a lumber company, they paid him off in the spring with a company cheque and offered to discount his cheque ten per cent and give him company money. Father did not take it. He walked forty miles to the bank, it was drawn on, and cashed at par. We have strong unions in these days and sometimes I think they are too arrogant, but before the unions the employers were just as arrogant and unreasonable.

Report from Queen's Park

BY MPP JOHN EAKINS

The Fall Session of the Ontario Legislature opened on the 17th October, with the installation of Jack Stokes, MPP (Lake Nipigon) as Speaker.

Premier Davis called for a full-scale federal-provincial conference on economic recovery, and disclosed the latest bad news on the provincial economy. Ontario's projected cash deficit has worsened during the past month and is now $1.45 billion for the current fiscal year - an increase of $375 million or 34 per cent since the April budget.

The Government's program for the fall session includes: a bill allowing municipalities to limit removal of topsoil from good farmland; reforms of family law, including provision for support and sharing of assets upon marriage breakdown; regulation of body-rub parlors, comprehensive occupational health and safety legislation; postponement for yet another year of the controversial province-wide property reassessment; and possible introduction of a bill to prevent Ontario companies from refusing to deal with Jewish companies in order to comply with an Arab boycott.

Opposition parties have made it clear that central issues for them will be the economy, particularly job creation, and Ontario Hydro's nuclear generation program. Liberal Leader, Stuart Smith, called for a new budgetary statement in the light of the latest progress report which shows the Government's earlier predictions to have been "disastrously wrong." He has also charged that the government helped to create present economic problems by its irresponsible spending, that it now seems paralyzed and unable to effect the necessary cures, and he has suggested a four-point program to cope with the situation, including an industry-by-industry review of the strengths, weaknesses and potential growth, combined with stimulation of labor-intensive small business.

There was an angry exchange in the Legislature between the Provincial Treasurer and Opposition Finance Critics. David Peterson, MPP (London Centre) and his NDP counterpart accused the Treasurer of deliberately painting a falsely optimistic picture of the Province's financial situation in his April Budget, for purely political purposes in view of the then-anticipated provincial election. He denied that he had deliberately over-estimated anticipated revenues. However, in September - less than half way through the financial year, he admitted that his revenue projections had been over-estimated by some $309 million.

In response to a question from David Peterson, the Treasurer stated that Ontario does not make its own forecasts of income tax collected on its behalf by the federal government. Earlier he had announced a reduction of $350 million in his revenue, which would contribute significantly to the provincial debt.

The Minister of Labor has announced that asbestos will now be included in the list of dangerous substances to be strictly regulated by the government under a new occupational health and safety bill. The list will also include such physical agents as compressed air, noise and non-ionizing radiation, as well as mercury, lead, vinyl chloride, benzene, isocyanates and pentachlorophenol. Radon will not be included, because the federal government has sole jurisdiction over radiation hazards associated with uranium under the Atomic Energy Act.

Plans for a program to make available up to $100-million in low interest loans for home insulation and weather-proofing have been abandoned by the Ontario Government. In this connection, Liberal Energy Critic Julian Reed has accused the government of flying directly in the face of its own financial restraint policies by scrapping the program, because there is conclusive proof that it is infinitely cheaper to lend money for home insulation than to capitalize new generating capacity to meet excessive demands. A number of U.S. utilities have themselves made loans to customers for home insulation because this is more profitable than building additional generators.

Robert Nixon, Liberal MPP for Brant-Oxford-Norfolk has placed a resolution on the Order Paper calling for the government to use some of the revenue from lotteries to set up a fund for emergency relief for communities or individuals who have suffered heavy expenditures due to natural disasters. He proposed that many payments under such a Wintario aid program could be in the form of no-interest loans.
